

Congratulations on your purchase of the OBR ADV Gear Crash Bar Storage Bags. The Crash Bar Storage Bags have been designed as a universal fit application to work with a varying range of crash bars.

Installation of your storage bags is super simple by using the hook and loop tabs built into each one of your storage bags. Each bag is made with four (4) 6" integrated hook and loop tabs ... two (2) along the top back edge and two (2) along the bottom back edge. These straps are long enough to fit bar spreads up to 10". Each bag also has a set of square loop buckles that have are positioned along the center of each side. These square loop buckles allow for an optional attachment point at the front and rear of the bag. If you choose not to attach at these points simply store away the hook/loop tab to be used another day.

It is recommended to maintain a min of 1.5"-2" of overlap of the hook/loop tabs. In some cases you might find the tabs to be a bit long. If that's the case it is ok to trim down the tab length.

That's it ... you're done! Now go and ride!
